MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS

The medical examination process should be completed before the visa appointment. This examination will take more than one day to complete and two visits to a panel physician may be required. The medical examination and laboratory tests may only be done at the addresses given below. Each applicant is required to show his/her passport as identification at each step of the medical examination process and bring four color photos. Please be ready to present your visa case number, DS-260 filling confirmation number, e-mail address, and intended U.S. address.

The per-person fee for a physical exam, which has been established in agreement with the American Embassy in Warsaw, is 300 PLN paid directly to the physician, and includes completion of the vaccination report. An additional fee is charged for tests screening for latent tuberculosis (TST-tuberculin test or IGRA-test) and for every required vaccination. Fees for the chest X-ray, urine test or blood tests are paid directly to the clinics or labs where they are performed. Different rates may apply in Belarus.

Maximum validity of medical examination results is six months unless limited to 3 months due to health condition. In any case, your visa will be limited to the validity date of the exam.

The medical examination consists of the following components: Tuberculosis Test (TST or IGRA test) for all children ages 2-14, chest X-ray, urine test for gonorrhea and blood test for syphilis for adults ages 15 and older, general physical examination, and vaccinations.

All applicants ages 15 and older should have a chest X-ray to detect possibility of tuberculosis infection. Some applicants will be referred for further diagnostics to exclude or confirm tuberculosis infection. In case of children with positive TST/IGRA test, they will be required to have a chest x-ray and further diagnostics at the discretion of the panel physician. Applicants should bring their Child's Health Book or other proof of vaccination. Children under 14 should be accompanied by at least one parent or a guardian. Applicants are required to bring the chest X-ray diskette/CD-ROM/film with them to the United States.

Pregnant visa applicants, who are required to have a chest X-ray may choose to postpone it until delivery. Pregnant women must provide written consent for the chest X-ray. Pregnant women receiving chest radiographs will be provided abdominal and pelvic protection with double-layer, wrap-around lead shields. Immunizations for pregnant women are done according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control regulations. Live vaccines are not administered to pregnant women.

Medical examination from physicians or clinics other than those listed below, even those from the United States will not be accepted.

In order to avoid any delays in visa processing, you should contact a panel physician immediately after you received the invitation letter for your visa interview. It usually takes at least a week to process all required medical tests.

VACCINATION REQUIREMENTS

U.S. immigration law requires certain categories of visa applicants to obtain the vaccinations listed below prior to the issuance of a visa.

As non-immigrant visa applicants, K visa applicants technically are not subject to the vaccination requirement. However, the Department of State strongly encourages K visa applicants to meet the vaccination requirements before admission to the United States. The vaccination assessment is included in the general fee paid to the panel physician. K visa applicants will need to have a full vaccination report completed before their adjustment to legal status in the U.S. Immigrant visa applicants, however, must submit this report as part of the medical examination process.

Panel physicians who conduct medical examinations on behalf of visa applicants are required to verify that visa applicants meet the vaccination requirement, or that it is medically inappropriate for the visa applicant to receive one or more of the listed vaccinations:

mumps, measles, rubella, polio, tetanus and diphtheria toxoids, pertussis, influenza, haemophilus influenzae type B (HIB), hepatitis A, hepatitis B, varicella, pneumococcal, rotavirus, meningococcal.

Applicant's full course of vaccinations may include one or more of the above listed vaccinations – subject to the applicant's age, documented vaccination history, season of the year, and medical status. Every applicant must comply with U.S. immunization requirements, not the home country's requirements.

To assist the panel physician, and to avoid processing delays, all visa applicants should have their vaccination records available for the physician's review at the time of the medical examination. Visa applicants should consult with their regular health care provider to obtain a copy of their immunization record, if one is available. If you do not have a vaccination record, the panel physician will work with you to determine which vaccinations you may need to meet the requirements.

Only a physician can determine which of the listed vaccinations are medically appropriate for you, given your age, medical history and current medical condition.
